

Distribution of Average Medication

Amedisys' elderly population has many medical conditions requiring pharmaceutical management. Medications are prescribed by physicians, not Amedisys. In 2006 the company's patients were on an average of 8 medications per day. In 2007 this average increased to 9 medications per day. In 2008, our patient population is now taking on average 12 medications per day. The average for 2008 (through Q3) has increased to 12.75 medications per day.
