

Three Year Trend of Case Mix Weights

The case mix weight in homecare is a combined score of the patients' clinical status, functional condition and service level requirements. It is essentially a singular number reflecting the acuity or sickness of a represented population.

Outlined above is a three year trend of case mix weight scores for Amedisys, the national average and the southeastern average.